

What percentage of THC is in Thai weed?

During the 13 months of Legalisation, we noticed a massive increase of quality from the weed farmers. In June 2022 there were not many Cannabis Farms in Thailand with Top-Shelf or even Exotic Quality Ganja.

The Weed-Market exploded within a few months and now we nearly have an over-production of Cannabis in Thailand. The Dispensaries are in huge numbers all over the country, but they need customers to who they can sell their flowers.

The customers can be happy; the quality increased and the prices dropped massively due to the huge amounts of weed available in the market.

What percentage of THC is in Thai weed?

We hear this question very often and can answer you very detailed. The average Level of THC in Thai Weed, and we not talking about the Thai Brick Weed and Thai Stick or Buddha Sticks, which contains somewhere around 8% to 15% THC.

No! WE are talking about good looking, good smelling and proper cured Cannabis Flowers, as we find them in places like Amsterdam, Barcelona or Los Angeles, just to name a few.

What we are looking for is locally grown weed, with good genetics and not overloaded with PGR and other crap. Even though PGR in the correct dosage can be a good thing... but that's another story which is too long for this post:-)

So, talking about THC percentage of Thai Weed, we can say from our experience that the average number for Indoor-Grow Weed is between 12% and 20% THC, Lab-tested, for strains such as Amnesia Haze, AK 47, White Widow, Runtz and other classic or new-school strains.

Gelato Sundaee, grown indoor in Chiang Mai, Thailand - 28% THC - Lab tested

Cuties - grown in Buriram Thailand - 27% THC - Top flavour and effect!

Hold my spliff.... thats it? How do we get high in Thailand if the weed is weak?

No problem, luckily there are a few farms in Thailand which produce a very high quality of cannabis. Those exotic-looking flowers are produced and cured properly, and also provide a nice high and a very nice flavour, in the jar and for smoking.

These farms grow weed which contains 20% up to 30% THC and are high-grade exotic quality without any doubts.

RS 11 - grown in Bangkok Thailand - 28% THC

There is absolutely nothing to worry about locally grown Thai Weed, if you buy it in the right shop (<https://www.patong-cannabis.com/patong-weed-shop/>). Keep your eyes open for old and overpriced weed and trust your budtender, if it is in a well-established dispensary here in Phuket or elsewhere in Thailand.

We wish you a good flight, and see you soon for blaze up some fine Thai Herb, peace!
